MORE SEWER TO BE PUT IN

CONTRACT WILL BE LET BY COUNCIL AUGUST 5

A PARKING ORDINANCE

Committee to Investigate Buying More Cemetery Property Meets With City Council

Contract for an 8 inch sewer pipe extending two blocks and for a 6 inch sewer pipe extending eight blocks will be let the afternoon of August 5 by the city council. The work on this job will call for the complete job. It is expected that work will be commenced soon after the contract is let and the work finished this summer.

The city council at a special meeting last night introduced an ordinance for this work. The ordinance specified an 8 inch sewer pipe to connect with the main sewer on East Fourth street and the intersection of Fourth and Newton, which is to run south to Second street on Newton street. Here it will connect with a 6 inch pipe to run west on Second street on both sides of the pavement for two blocks.

The longest stretch of sewer pipe to be put in will be for four blocks on East Third street. Here a 6 inch pipe will be put down on the north side of the pavement on East Third street from Newton street to Mattie street.

This new sewer pipe and work will mean an expenditure of from about $1,200 to $1,500.

The five men, Fred Kurtz, Joseph Jackson, Howard Strong, E. C. Curfman and L. E. Forsyth, appointed by Mayor W. O. Garrett to investigate the proposition of the city buying more property to extend the limits of the Oak Hill Cemetery, met with the city council last night. The committee will view the Cemetery and adjoining property this evening and report to the council any recommendations it thinks advisable for buying any certain tract of land, the size and amount that should be paid.

Another ordinance was passed by the council last night to take effect in ten days regulates the parking of vehicles on Third and Fourth streets. The ordinance permits the temporary parking of vehicles on Third street between Main and market streets and on Fourth street between Main and Market streets when left standing at an angle of forty-five degrees. Those parked on the south side are to front in a southeasterly direction and those parked on the north side to front in a northwesterly direction, with front wheels of vehicle to and adjacent to the curb.

Heretofore the parking system used on these two streets has been center parking. The ordinance also specifies that vehicles parked on West Third street between Main and Buchanan streets, which shall be left along side of the curb, side of wheels next to curb not more than two feet from curb.

All vehicles left parked on these streets shall only be parked at places marked for such purpose and not closer than ten feet to any fire hydrant or nearer than twenty feet to any intersecting street. Any violations of this ordinance shall upon conviction be a misdemeanor and subject to fine of from $1 to $50.

Josepn P. Wheat Tells of His Plans—Poultry Dressing Plant Proposition is Endorsed by Members

The possibility and importance of establishing motor bus lines from various towns in Northwest Missouri to Maryville was discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at the country club building last night.

Mr. Hull pointed out that steps along this line should be taken as soon as possible in order that persons might form the habit of coming to Maryville to trade.

The possibility of establishing a poultry dressing plant in Maryville also was discussed at the meeting last night. The proposed plant would furnish facilities for the dressing of poultry and grading eggs and would provide employment for a number of persons. The proposition was heartily favored by all present. It was discussed by C. G. Vogt, Delbert Vert, Harry Fisher and Ernest Wray.

EVOLUTION ACT TO BE UPHELD

PRESIDING JUDGE DECLARES IT CONSTITUTIONAL.

HE PREPARES OPINION

Will Be Handed Down In Open Court —Open Prayer Causes Trouble In Courtroom Again.

Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—The Tennessee anti-evolution law was held constitutional and the indictment of John Thomas Scopes approved in an opinion prepared by Presiding Judge Raulston to be handed down in open court, International News Service learned this afternoon.

The jurist worked on his decision most of the night, adjourned court early today and dismissed the afternoon session in order to complete the opinion.

The judge decided that the Tennessee legislature was fully within its police power in placing restrictions upon the curricula of public schools.

Courtroom, Dayton, Tenn., July 14. —A direct religious controversy was thrown into the Scopes case today when Clarence Darrow, leading defense counsel, formally objected to opening the trial with a prayer.

The objection was overruled by Judge Raulston and Darrow immediately entered an exception into the records of the case.

The defense forcefully protested against the prayer, leading to sharp arguments between attorneys for Scopes and the state.

"What I am objecting to," Darrow said, "is to turning this courtroom into a meeting house when religion is an issue in the case."

That was the spark for concreted action by the prosecuting counsel. All were on their feet shouting for recognition. Defense attorneys sprang from their table to the center of the room.

Attorney-General Stewart's booming "Your honor" at last gained him the floor.

"This is a Christian country and a Christian community," said Stewart. "I believe the court is right and should not be influenced by an agnostic, as everyone knows a prayer is foreign to his nature."

TO CONFER ON CHINA'S FATE

OPPOSITION TO CONFERENCE IS DWINDLING.

TO START MACHINERY

State Department More Hopeful of Nine Major Nations Getting Together as Per Agreement.

Washington, July 14.—Opposition to Secretary Kellogg's suggestion for an immediate conference on Chinese affairs is gradually dwindling, particularly in Great Britain, it was learned officially here today.

Despite the reported luke-warm attitude of the British to the American proposal, informal advices from American Minister MacMurray in Peking have indicated the powers are in favor of the conference. This latest turn in the Chinese situation was taken in official circles here to mean that the actual machinery of calling the conference may get under way during the next few weeks toward a formal meeting in the fall.

Swampscott, Mass., July 14.—The United States government is making every effort to expedite a conference on Chinese problems between the powers signatories to the Washington nine-power pact, it was announced at the summer White House today, with the expectation of enlisting the immediate interest of the eight other powers, including China, in the conference.

The state department is hopeful that the proposed negotiations will soon be under way. Its object will be tranquility and prosperity in China in exchange for that nation's assurance that foreigners within its territory will be protected.

MINIMUM SPEED LIMITS

In establishing a minimum speed limit of 35 miles an hour on certain straight-away boulevards the Rhode Island commissioner of state highways was only responding to the inevitable. His action was no less to be expected than that of the first legislatures to enact the original statutes fixing the maximum speeds at which automobiles could legally travel.

Laws fixing low maximum speeds for motor traffic were the product of a period of unimproved, narrow highways, crude traffic control devices or none at all and inexperienced and inadequate traffic squads. Low speed was essential at a time when traffic had to take care of itself on thoroughfares which were narrow, rough and either dusty or muddy.

A logical consequence of the increasing mileage of hard-surfaced, widened and carefully patrolled highways was the raising of the maximum speed limits. A trend in that direction is noted in every state with a good roads program. It is not a thing which the motorists have forced upon the several states, it is a step of the evolution of American traffic conditions. A decade ago there were elements of danger in high speed. Today there are elements of danger in low speed on certain highways.

Just as the speed laws of today distinguish between city streets and country highways by fixing higher maximum speeds for the former than for the latter, so will the speed laws of tomorrow make a distinction between certain highways by requiring high speed on some and prohibiting high speed on others.

Obstacles confronting the guardians of the highways in the establishment of minimum speed limits are small cars with a limited range of speed, the new, inexpert and timid classes of drivers and the necessity of operating new cars at a low speed for a fixed number of miles. Roads wide enough for four traffic lanes, or one road for fast traffic and another for slow moving vehicles, may be future solutions of the problem.

SOUND TAXATION.

It is taken for granted that a substantial reduction of income, and surtax rates will be made by congress at the session beginning in December. This is gratifying. The public, looking forward confidently to the lightening of the burden imposed on all by federal taxation, is assured no less of an added impetus to business that will be promotive of the common prosperity.

But far more significant, economically and politically, is the confidence in government circles that the reduction and revision bill will be enacted in season for its benefits to be reaped by next year's taxpayers. This is founded on the evidence of a marked change of sentiment and conviction on the part of the radical element in congress.

Only a minor fraction of the people have been deluded by the radical propaganda based on communist philosophy advocating spoliation of those who have for the benefit of those who have less or nothing. This theory followed to its inevitable end would lead, not to more prosperity for the many, but to common destitution as in Russia, where it has been effect for seven years.

The State officials announce that they will immediately start a drive against those who failed to make reports and pay the state income tax. About 10,000 in the city of St. Louis are said to be delinquent in the payment of state income taxes. A law was passed by the last legislature which will enable the agents of the state auditor to compare state and federal reports and check up those who made reports to the federal government and failed to make a state report.

NEWS FROM MISSOURI CITIES AND TOWNS

St. Louis, Mo., July 14.—Howard Williams, evangelist and pacifier of strife in Herrin, who will close his meetings in the latter city next Sunday, is scheduled to open October 14, at St. Louis for a six-weeks stay.

Williams, until recently a newspaper publisher of Hattiesburg, Miss., came to Herrin about two months ago. In that time he has seen the passing of the old order and a revival of Christian spirit and enthusiasm which is without paralell in the annals of religion. He conquered factional disagreement to such an extent that recently more than five thousand persons, formerly divided into different hostile camps joined together in "burying the hatchet" and in acclaiming their Sheriff George Galligan whose office was one of the many bones of contention in so-called "bloody" Williamson County.

Williams will come here under the auspices of the University Presbyterian church and is directly sponsored by the pastor, the Rev. J. Hardin Smith.

A specially constructed tabernacle will be erected shortly which will have a seating capacity of 10,000 persons. Charles Butler, who for the past several years has been conducting choir services for prominent evangelists throughout the country will have charge of the Williams choir.

Laclede, Mo., July 14.—The farmers hereabouts are will-pleased with the wheat and oats now harvested and they have good reasons for ths. As an example of how the crops are exceeding all estimates and prophecies, Mr. J. Goosly has just finished harvesting his wheat and oats with the result that the wheat yielded thirty-five bushels per acre. It is declared the general run will average this amount and that some farms will exceed that amount in yield.

Brookfield, Mo., July 14.—The Burlington railroad is experimenting here with a new type box car door which is acclaimed as a great improvement over the old style. The new door is operated by a patented device which makes it possible to open or close it with one hand. The old type doors are so hard to operate that often two men are necessary to open them and frequently it is necessary to resort to a crow bar. The St. J. and G. I. as well as the Burlington is experimenting with the new door which is predicted will supplant the old type altogether within the next few years.

Kirksville, Mo., July 14.—Lois Adams, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams was painfully injured here last night. She was climbing a porch post when her hold became loosened and she fell hanging herself on a large hammock hook which was attached to the post. The hook penetrated the abdominal cavity and caught under a rib.

The child was found impaled on the hook by her mother and was rushed immediately to a hospital. It is said she will probably recover.

Kirksville, Mo., July 14.—The State Highway Commission will let the contracts for an 18-foot concrete road from Kirksville south on highway No. 7 to the Macon county line on July 24. The total length is given as approximately thirteen miles.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—"Though advice may be cheap," said Herbert Quick, author of "the great American novel," in a chat I had with him a few days before his recent death, "yet it's a satisfaction to see it turn out right after giving somebody some of it."

There'd been a reference in the course of our talk to John Garibaldi Sargent, the United States attorney-general.

"Did you know," Quick asked, "that the old man had a cousin who once lived out in Sioux City?"

Having been a Sioux Cityite myself in my youth, this was mildly interesting.

"Yes," Quick continued, "it's a fact—a young Iowa farm boy from down near Akron."

"Farming, however, didn't appeal to our hero, as it doesn't to so many farm boys. So he studied and in due course was admitted to the bar down at Iowa City. Then he come up to Sioux City, prospecting around a bit. He had a letter to me and one day called in to ask for a few suggestions."

"Fred," I told him, 'breaking into law in a big town like this'—which Sioux City is, comparatively—'is a mighty slow, discouraging job.' I knew what I was talking about, for I'd done it myself and nearly starved to death.

"'Now, my advice to you,' I proceeded, 'is to settle down in one of our good little burgs out in the county and build up a country practice.'

"In a few days he called again. He told me he'd arranged for a desk, practically as a mere clerk, in the offices of Wright & Call, the most important law firm in that section. It was a good connection, but as I've said, all Fred Sargent had was just a clerkship."

"Well, what happened to that firm? Inside a year the junior member, A. F. Call, broke down physically and had to retire. Young Sargent, having shown much promise and being right handy, was boosted immediately into the junior partnership.

"A few months later Craig L. Wright, the senior member, died suddenly and Sargent inherited the entire practice. It included the legal representation of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad in his territory.

"You never saw anybody rise so fast. Now Fred is vice-president and general counsel of the whole Northwestern system."

Quick would have grinned, had he lived another month or two, to see Fred W. Sargent stepping, as he has just done, into the presidency of the Chicago & Northwestern and Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroads.

Hamburg Skeptical About Oil "Strike"

Plan To Resume Drilling Late Tuesday Or Early Wednesday Morning.

Hamburg, Ia., July 14.—Although several barrels of crude oil were taken from the well on the James Spicer farm, Hamburg folks, generally, remain skeptical at the prospect of this becoming a great oil field. They want more convincing proof. They want to see oil taken from the ground in great quantities, before they let loose any enthusiasm.

Drilling, stopped when the oil sand was reached, will not be resumed until late today or early Wednesday, according to present plans of A. B. Donaldson, trustee for the oil company. He says he is waiting to give the well a chance to develop gas pressure.

So far as can be learned, no Hamburg people have invested any money in the oil prospects. The company has leases on 9 thousand acres of land surrounding the Spicer well, and they may be bought, although no stock in the promoting company is to be had. Leases within a mile of the well are offered at 1 hundred dollars an acre; from one to three miles $75 and beyond three miles $50. Several persons in nearby towns, and in Omaha, are said to have invested in leases.

Donaldson says he will sink another well somewhere in the vicinity, no matter what the outcome of the present venture.

Sunday brought a great crowd of the curious to the well. It is estimated that between 1 and 3 thousand cars visited the scene during the day, although at no time was there a jam. The American Legion Auxiliary women had a soft drink stand close by.

It was reported here today that another company was promoting a "wild cat" well to be put down in Atchison county, Missouri, the first county south of Hamburg.

Millionaire, Broke at 42, Starts Over

James Childs Gould, However, Is Not Downhearted—Career Is Romance of Commerce.

Cardiff, July 14.—Worth three million pounds three years ago, a member of Parliament and the most influential man in Wales, James Childs Gould, at the age of 42, is now penniless and bankrupt and compelled to start again where he began.

Gould, however, is not downhearted. "I am still a young man," he says, "and can do a lot in the years before me to retrieve my position. True, youth and the enthusiasms of youth are gone, but in their place are middle age, caution and practical experience, and, although I have lost all my wealth, it may turn out that I have not lost so much after all.

"Wealth is not everything, nor is money synonymous with happiness."

Gould's career is a romance of commerce. The son of a stone mason, quite untaught, he became clerk, sailor and laborer in turn. In 1904 he went to the United States and settled in Boston.

He started as a marine insurance and reinsurance broker, and in a short time built up an organization in London, Berlin and New York.

"Then came the great shipping boom," Gould said. "I bought ships as fast as I could, and in three or four years the capital of my shipping business alone was 3,000,000 pounds.

"I had a big house in London and entertained almost every member of the British Cabinet.

"Then came the great shipping slump and this, coupled with the removal by the Labor Government of the McKenna duties, just killed our business.

"At the present time I am almost back where I was when I started as an office boy at $2 a week. Everything is gone—except the one important thing, the will to make good once more."

We usually criticize others for doing exactly what we would do in their places.

THE collar made of feathers is newer than the one of fur, and is becoming almost as popular. It is most frequently used now with silk or chiffon wraps, but the early fall coats and suits of wool show a tendency to follow suit.

S. S. S. will rid you of boils, pimples, blackheads and skin eruptions!

DON'T CLOSE your eyes to the warning which Nature gives when angry, painful boils appear on your neck, face or other parts of your body. Boils, pimples and so-called skin disorders are the result of an impoverished condition of the blood and are not to be trifled with.

It is nothing more than folly to expect to get absolute relief from the use of local treatments, such as ointments, salves, etc. Such remedies may afford temporary relief but you want more than relief; you want a remedy which will rid you forever of the torturing disorder. And the one remedy which has no equal is S.S.S.

S.S.S. stops boils and keeps them from coming. S.S.S. builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils! It fights skin eruptions—pimples, blackheads, eczema! It always wins! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood builders, blood cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today and clear your skin of those blood disorders!

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Depicts Burning of Rome.

There is love, romance, history, powerful drama, spectacular splendor and all pervading Christianity in "Quo Vadis." Although the burning of Rome and the hurling of the Christian martyrs to the lions by Nero thrill and carry you off your feet for the time being, the lasting impressions and soothing thoughts come with the scenes of St. Peter and the little band of Christians—their secret meetings in the Catacombs and their superb heroism when thrown down to the lions in the Arena by the cruel Nero. This picture shows for the last time at Empire Theater tonight.

Carries Ashes of Husband With Her

Gray-Haired Woman Refuses to Give Up "Her Own"—Admits Taking Drugs For Years.

Chicago, July 14. (United Press)—A broken, gray-haired woman arrested as a narcotic addict held a blue bottle of ashes in her hand as she faced detectives here and swore the ashes were those of her dead husband, relics which she kept with her constantly for more than ten years.

Chemists, who first believed the bottle contained the ashes of opium, found upon examination that the contents were human ashes. Detectives immediately questioned the woman, Mrs. Rose McConnell, 40 years old.

A slender little woman, almost emaciated, her face and hands twitching from the effects of the drugs to which she admits she had been addicted for years, she did not hesitate to tell her story. When arrested she had fought with all her power to keep the bottle. Now she tried to explain why she should be allowed to keep it.

"I loved him more than anything else" she said. "I couldn't bear to part from him. So I didn't.

"I took this bottle and packed it full of his ashes when he was cremated. I've kept this little bottle inside my dress, over my heart, or sometimes in my purse, ever since."

Mrs. McConnell dabbed her eyes with a soiled handkerchief.

"I've strayed from coast to coast, but I never parted from this bottle. It's my husband."

The detectives gently removed the bottle, five inches long, from her hand. The woman pleaded declaring the ashes her "only friend."

Despite her poor clothing, her scraggly hair, the creases in her face and the never ending habit of twitching nerves, Mrs. McConnell still retained the traces of her natural beauty in her eyes and about her mouth.

She has been turned over to the federal authorities.

Declares Steam Will Take Place of Gas

Cardiff, Wales, July 14.—Steam engines, probably, will eventually take the place of internal combustion engines even in motor vehicles and aeroplanes, J. S. Haldane, the physicist, declared in a speech before the Institute of Engineers here.

"Steam engines," said Haldane "freed from the trammels with which their design has for a long time been held by mistaken thermodynamical complications will in future become more widely available. They will displace the internal combustion engine in many of its uses, while coal, being the cheaper source of heat, will largely displace oil as a fuel for heat engines. Coal wil find many new uses as a primary source of power, particularly when electrical distribution is further developed."

Unearth Valuable Old Postage Stamps

London, July 14.—Scores of sheets of unused postage stamps, dating from 1858 to 1863 have been found in the attic of the mansion of a Mayfair nobleman. They are said to be worth from $75,000 to $100,000 to collectors and will be sold this Fall.

The stamps were found by the nobleman's wife among a pile of Christmas cards sixty years old. The identity of the owner is being withheld.

Asks That All Dogs Be Muzzled

Chicago, July 14.—Declaring that England and Australia have proved rabies can be "eradicated completely if dogs are kept muzzled" Health Commisioner Herman N. Bundesen warned Chicagoans to protect themselves and their neighbors against hydrophobia. This summer 1,496 persons have been bitten by dogs and he urged that all dogs be muzzled and "kept muzzled.

Arrested; Sells Cop Some Real Estate

Columbus, Ohio, July 14 (United Press)—"I'll get even with you yet," threatened H. G. Deweese, real estate salesman when patrolman Harry Garrett arrested him for speeding.

After paying his fine Deweese went after Garrett and sold him two lots in a Columbus addition.

Missouri Supreme Court Affirms Sentence Imposed On Kansas City Man for Perjury on Bond.

Jefferson City, July 14.—The practice of making "straw bonds" in the courts of Missouri today received a setback when the Supreme Court affirmed the two-year sentence imposed on William B. Sloan of Kansas City. Sloan was convicted of perjury in connection with his qualifying on a bond of $12,000.

Rare Collection Radio Accessories Owned by Kessler

What is thought to be one of the few collections of radio accessories in the state and the only large collection in this section may be seen in the window of the Hanamo Telephone Co., on West Third street. It is the pride of Ernest C. Kessler, who has an up-to-date laboratory at his home, 522 West Third street.

This collection has attracted the attention of many radio fans and is interesting for the rare articles that are shown. Some of the articles Mr. Kessler has on display are now obsolete as far as their use is concerned, having been supplanted by later inventions, but are valuable in the fact that they numbered as a few of the first models put out when radio was in its infancy, and also some are valued for their intrinsic value. The pet of the collection is marked tube No. 31 and is especially valuable. It was made for experimental purposes by the General Electric Co., in 1919 and is a special high amplification constant tube. It is protected by its own walnut velvet lined case.

The articles on display are enumerated as follows:

1912 call book, listing government and amateur stations.

First issue Radio Broadcast.

First issue Radio Digest.

First issue Popular Electrics.

First issue Popular World.

Fourth issue Radio World.

Early issue of Radio News.

Early issue of QST, official organ amateur radio fans.

Pictures of laboratories, taken in 1911 and pictures of Mr. Kessler's laboratories in 1921 and in 1924.

Old letter from Electric Importing Co., New York, a radio supply house, to Mr. Kessler, stating apparatus mentioned should receive 800 to 1,200 miles.

In the collection are tubes made by the General Electric Co.:

Tube No. 9, early form of five watt transmitting tube; No. 17, a TB-1 Kenotion tube manufactured for the United States Signal Corps for generator voltage regulation on airplane radio set; No. 15, an early form of UV-200 radiotion; No. 16, early form of UV-201 radiotion. Tube No. 6 was made by the Atlantic-Pacific Radio Co., in 1920 and is an electron relay (detector) and No. 17 by same concern and is A. F. amplifier.

Tube No. 1 is a Signal Corps tube built by the Western Electric Co., and tube No. 7 is a Myers tube. No. 3 is early French tube. Mr. Kessler has in this collection an emblem of the Wireless Association of American which in 1911 was official association but which was supplanted by the American Radio Relay League.

Mystery Girl

Marquesa de Glarey, 12, who was robbed and stranded in Denison, O., told police there she was a first cousin of Pola Negri, screen star. The actress denies ever having heard of the girl, however, and the Ohio authorities cannot find out where she came from.

"Fatigue Slouch" Is Danger to Health

Amherst, Mass., July 14.—Flappers were warned of the danger from "fatigue slouch" by Mrs. Ida Harrington, of Riverton, N. J., in a speech to home demonstration agents at a conference at Massachusetts Agricultural College.

She said: "The 'fatigue slouch' that is so alluring to the young girl of today embodies a malignant threat. The teaching world has always held out magic cures, but no artifice can do for women what they won't do for themselves. If women will not or cannot maintain a natural, erect posture without corsets, they should wear them. Five minutes of exercise by the woman herself will do more good than one hour of massage."

Farm Population of United States Shows Decrease of 182,000 in 1924

The farm population of the United States decreased approximately 182,000 during 1924, according to estimates based on a survey of 25,000 representative farms made recently by the United States Department of Agriculture. This is a drop of .6 per cent during that year, the estimated farm population on January 1, 1925, being 31,134,000 compared with 31,316,000 on January 1, 1924. This estimate includes not only the agricultural workers, but all men, women and children living on the farms on that date.

The movement from farms to cities towns and villages in 1924 is estimated at 2,075,000; the movement to farms was 1,396,000 making a net movement from the farm population of 679,000 persons, or 2.2 per cent. Births among the farm population during 1924 are estimated at 763,000 and deaths at 266,000 leaving a natural increase of 497,000 which reduced the loss due to the cityward movement to 182,000 or .6 per cent.

A similar estimate made in 1922 showed a loss in farm population of 460,000 as against 182,000 in 1924. The gross movement from farms to cities in 1922 was 2,000,000 compared to 2,075,000 in 1924, a slight increase. The gross movement back to the farms in 1922 was 880,000 compared to 1,396,000 in 1924, a very decided increase. The net movement from farms to cities in 1922 was 1,120,000 or 3.6 per cent and in 1924, 679,000 or 2.2 per cent.

Two geographic divisions, the New England and South Atlantic States, showed a net increase in farm population for the year 1924, of .9 per cent and .2 per cent, respectively. All other divisions showed decreases, the Mountain States leading with a loss of 2.8.

The decrease in farm population due to the cityward movement, not taking into account births or deaths, was highest in the Mountain States 4.3 per cent, followed by the Pacific and West South Central States. In all other divisions, except New England, the percentage of decrease due to the cityward movement was equal to or less than the average for the whole United States, 2.2 per cent. New England alone showed a gain of .3 per cent, since more people moved from cities to New England farms than left farms for cities.

The movement from farms to cities was found to be at the highest rate in the Mountain States, 13.8 per cent, followed by the Pacific, New England, Middle Atlantic, and East North Central States in order. In the movement to farms from cities, the Mountain States again lead, with a 9.5 per cent, followed by the New England, Pacific, Middle Atlantic and East North Central States.

LARGEST ENTRY OF RACE HORSES EVER KNOWN TO CLARINDA

3 Big Days

FOUR SENSATIONAL ELLIOTTS

Two Men and Two Women, Both Day and Night

They bring a complete special apparatus 102 feet high upon which they perform daring sensational acts, head and hand balancing, trapeze, rings, sailor perch, working single, in twos, threes and fours at a time. Absolutely no nets or any other safety devices used for protection. They carry two powerful spotlights 1000 watts each. Nothing like or equals it in America.

THE SKATING HAMILTONS DAY AND NIGHT

The Skating Hamiltons present a most perfect artistry of graceful motion, making spectacular gyrations such as pivot spins and intricate whirls. A special skating floor is carried by the Hamiltons and their routine consists of a number of latest dancing performed on the rollers. One of their extraordinary feats is performed by Miss Hamilton locking her limbs around her partner's neck while he goes into a sensational whirl.

MUSIC

This one attraction every one likes. The Clarinda Fair this year will have three bands, consisting in round numbers of 100 musicians.

Dr. Sellards directing the Clarinda Municipal Band.
Maj. Geo. W. Landers directing Page Co. Farmer Band.
Keith Anderson's Consolidated 55-Piece Band.

3 Big Nights

WE LIKE 'EM! WHAT? FIREWORKS, OF COURSE!

Well then, this year we will give one of the best if not the best fireworks displays for three days and three nights you ever looked at. Remember, we will have day fireworks, too. Think of set pieces, such as Barney Google, Spark Plug, Andy Gump with Min and Chester, Jiggs and Maggie, Mutt and Jeff, Uncle Walt and Skeezix, Sambo, the little colored chap who is Barney's valet and secretary, chaperones Rudy the ostrich, while Felix the cat cuts capers.

From the time the program opens, through the features and until the grand finale, the air will be filled with illumination and the big exhibition field will be a blaze of colored fire.

COMEDY BOOMERANG DAY AND NIGHT

By Joe Melvin

Joe Melvin injects a lot of comedy into his act with his hat throwing and boomerang work. He and his pretty assistant produce many laughs with the rapidity they sail straw hats into the air and make instant changes on their heads. A huge boomerang is also tossed into the air and upon returning it alights upon Melvin's head while at the same time he catches a smaller boomerang in a basket hung on his neck. This acts works very fast and furious.

DOING TWO ACTS DAY AND NIGHT

Denny Curtis' Animal Circus

When patrons of the Clarinda Fair witness this screamingly funny taximeter number, and also his trained dogs and ponies they will give Curtis a rising vote of thanks. Curtis has the "dog-gondest" mule that has ever been in captivity and in the taximeter act, the stubborn, kicking, biting qualities of this Missouri mule are brought to the fore. The act is a riot from start to finish.

Edie Polo, one of two dogs in the world that does a back-double-somersault, is a feature of these acts. These are two wonderful acts.

HORSE RACING

Everyone likes good horses. Clarinda Fair this year has the LARGEST ENTRY LIST ever known. Here are the races that are all ready to go:

2:14 Trot	2:25 Trot
2:20 Trot	2:30 Trot
2:14 Pace	2:11 Pace
2:18 Pace	2:22 Pace

Noah Must Have Been Busy Man If He Put All Kinds of Animals on Ark

Dayton, Tenn., July 14. (United Press)—Judge Hohn Tate Raulston who presides over the Scopes trial, says he guesses no judge ever got so much advice about a case as he receives in his daily mail from all parts of the country.

The choice bit from Monday's Collection was read just before court opened. He slapped his knee, chuckled loudly and enjoyed the fun as much as any of those who crowded about him.

"Dear Judge:

"What I want to know is, did Noah put on the ark flies, cockroaches, bedbugs, sheep, teads, scorpions or rattlesnakes? If he did, he ought to have been hung as a horse thief or shot.

"There are 100 species of fish in the world. Did Noah put all these aboard the Ark. If he did, he must have put in tanks and the tanks would have been higher than the ark. And how did he unload them again and get them in the ocean? You have got lots to think about. Don't pay any attention to Bryan. He is a fool and his stuff is bunk. You will be a fool too, if you do."

Los Angeles, July 14.—Tennessee's row over the evolution and religion has J. C. "Broncho Jack" Mulcahey the cowboy-preacher of Trinidad, Colo., all "het up" and "rarin' " in his saddle.

There are more monkeys and fewer Christians in California than in the jungles, according to Broncho Jack and they are "runnin' wild."

To prove his theory, the veteran sky pilot of the cow country rode into Los Angeles Sunday night and with one grand "whoopee" lassoed and corralled a herd of sinners, bulldogged them into the Fifth Street mission, near the Southern Pacific yards, and branded them with the mark of Jehovah.

The roundup threatened to turn into a stampede when Broncho Jack passed the collection box.

"There by Gad, That's a day's work. The Lord will be proud of it" roared the bowlegged range rider.

"There's no monkey business in my religion and I'm not rounding up longhorns either. I came here to corral the great human herd, brand the sinners and make Christians out of monkeys."

Broncho Jack has roamed the range country rough shod for 52 years. For the past 27 years he has been carrying the gospel to the cowpunchers, miners and other rough and ready customers. This is his fifteenth invasion of "civilization."

Business Executives Give Reasons Why Any Kind of Advertising Is Profitable

The following is the thirty-fifth installment of the article on "Community Advertising," written for the Democrat-Forum by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

As a general rule, any worth-while community advertising campaign will be composed of several units of copy:

1. Display advertisements (probably inquiry-bringers).
2. Classified advertisements (probably inquiry bringers).
3. Inquiry-bringing or canvassing letters.
4. Answering letters.
5. Booklets.

It is impossible to undertake an advertising campaign for the community and think we have covered the field when we appropriate a certain sum for paid advertisements. That is only the initial cost.

All inquiries should be listed as prospects and when they become patrons of the community should be transferred to another file. A great deal can be lost, in any campaign that the community undertakes, by not paying the proper attention to inquiries.

How do we know advertising pays? 54 business executives upon being asked this question replied as follows:

1. Sometimes the "pay dirt" can be measured in dollars.
2. At other times it can't—yet it still pays.
3. To make it pay the various types of advertising must be used for the purposes appropriate to them.
4. Further, investigation must precede action.
5. For the best results, advertising and selling must be correlated.
6. The place of advertising, as related to the business as a whole must be clearly understood.
7. Knowing when to advertise is an important element for complete success.
8. The success or failure of the advertising campaign is controlled by those who arrive at and set the advertising budget.

Shuberts Will Foster Interchange of Plays

London, July 14.—The chief aim of Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert, American theatrical producers, in buying a half interest in three West End London theaters, was to foster an interchange of plays between Great Britain and America.

That's the explanation of Lee Shubert, who conducted the negotiations here which led to the purchase by the Shuberts of half of the shares in the theatrical enterprises of Grossmith & Malone Limited. The purchase price was said to have been more than half a million dollars. According to the arrangements, the Shuberts have joint control, with English shareholders of the Winter Garden, His Majesty's and the Shaftesbury theaters.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, July 14.—Grain futures finished the trading on the Board of Trade here today, showing net losses. It was another erratic day for wheat. The market opened soft on failure of Liverpool to meet our advance and belief that weather in the Northwest would change for the better. Some were of the opinion that recent advances about discounted all deterioration complaints from the Northwest.

Bulges at noon brought out profit taking. On the depression that followed many local bulls strengthened lines, confident that wheat did not escape the hot weather damage in the event rust complaints prove unfounded.

Local professionals who bought corn early were free sellers when wheat weakened. This, coupled with generally favorable growing conditions, caused corn to drop materially from the previous close.

Oats followed corn. Liquidators found demand lacking.

Provisions moved within a lower range on general selling by packers and commission houses.

Fancy and Intricate Roller Skating

The popularity of good roller skating acts with the public has never diminished, but the offering must be exceedingly clever, possess rare speed and have that added touch of newness to be a substantial hit today. Big time vaudeville patrons have found that the Skating Hamiltons have all the essentials that spell success and patrons of the Clarinda Fair will have an opportunity this year to judge the rare ability and skill of these two famous exponents of the tricky rollers.

There are four other excellent acts to be given afternoon and evening of the Clarinda Fair which opens July 20 and closes the evening of July 25. Horse racing entries have broken records of twenty years and some rare enjoyment in this line is promised.

One night "Old Jim" Michael was murdered

Thousands of fake heirs write him annually
We turned up these Skaggs women but they claimed they had never heard of Minnie Price"

Hunts Heirs to $10,000,000 a Year

By ROY J. GIBBONS
NEA Service Writer.

Chicago, July 14.—Unclaimed estates of mystery men and women—persons who die without revealing enough of their past to indicate their heirs—total something like $10,000,000 every year in this country.

W. C. Cox, probate genealogist here, who has built up a successful business in finding the legal heirs of the mysterious ones, is responsible for the estimate. He solves hundreds of such cases annually.

The $10,000,000 in unclaimed fortunes consists of money, land and property that lawyers are unable to turn over to known relatives. The amount does not include contested wills, disputed inheritances and the like.

Illustrative of the mystery folk is the case of "Old Jim" Michael which Cox has in his files.

Came Here Alone

"Michael, so we found," says Cox, "immigrated alone to the United States from the Isle of Man. In his youth he roamed through Rhode Island,, Illinois, North Carolina and Maryland.

"Finally he settled down and amassed a fortune of about $75,000. One night, at the age of 103, he was murdered.

"Neighbors, friends and public officials knew nothing of his past. He seemed to have cut off all communication with his family.

"The Isle of Man is now being combed for possible relatives.

"But unless some are found, the Michael fortune, now swelled by added interest, will revert to the state in which Michael died, since this is the procedure in such cases."

According to Cox, the estates of women comprise much of the mystery in his files.

Minnie Price's Case

His records are full of them. Some are solved and some are beyond solution.

Moral missteps, unfortunate marriages and similar factors are the principal causes for women to refuse to reveal their past, Cox has found. They hold to this stubbornness even on their deathbeds.

"One of our most unusual cases," Cox says, "was that of a Minnie Price, who lived a recluse. She died in delirium, telling a priest that she was born in Powhattan, Ark., in 1870, and that she had two half-sisters named Rose and Margie Skaggs.

"We turned up these Skaggs women after a long search, but they claimed they had never heard of Minnie Price. There the trail ended."

But the case which Cox regards as the most complicated one he ever worked on concerned the estate of a woman named Lanon who died in Los Angeles.

She left a fortune of $100,000 and from the faintest of clews a nephew was found after months of search in Louisville, Ky.

Through this nephew Cox traced a sister of the dead woman to New Rochelle, N. Y. In New York he also found two other nephews.

Just as the court was about to turn the $100,000 over to these heirs Cox received a wire from California, saying "Son claims Lanon estate. Petition filed today."

Examined Paper.

The alleged son had what seemed almost indisputable proof to support his contention, including letters signed in the name of the dead woman.

Cox took one of the letters and finally found the firm that manufactured the paper on which it was written.

He substantiated that the paper had been made years after the date on which the letter was supposed to have been written.

Searching for the kin of mystery men and women who turn up in the port of the missing at death, has been a hobby and business with Cox for 20 years.

During that time he has unearthed heirs to estates worth millions.

Some of the heirs never knew they had such a relative as the one who had died and made them wealthy.

"The fake heir is the bane of this work," Cox says. Thousands of such spurious heirs write him annually claiming interest in some estate he is working on.

MAY PREDICT CANCER CAUSE

BRITISH MEDICAL COUNCIL REPORTS DISCOVERY.

MUST BE CONFIRMED

Editor Of Medical Journal Declares Many Supposed Cures Have Been Claimed In Past Years.

London, July 14.—(United Press)—"We have made a discovery which will enable us to detect the cause of cancer," Dr. William Gye of the scientific staff of the British medical research council told the United Press. He added that "the subject is very complicated and difficult for a layman to understand."

His statement came following publication of reports indicated the council, after years of research, had isolated the organism causing cancer, but had found a cure for the dread disease.

Gye, with J. E. Bernard, noted for his scientific research work in microscopy, are reports to be the persons who have isolated the organism. Barnard, head of the hatter's firm, has long had a hobby for scientific research. The results of their work will be published in the medical journal, Lancet, Friday.

The hatman-scientist was reluctant when interviewed.

He explained that he spent his days in the hat business and "the remainder of the time in research work at the laboratory."

Barnard, however, reported to have taken the lead in devising a new special microscopic apparatus required in the delicate experiments of Dr. Gye.

Gye is reported to have isolated a micro-organism from a variety of tumor, occurring in chickens, known as sarcoma. He ascertained that it was impossible to innoculate other fowls with a germ but then tried innoculation with an extract of bruised tissue. This tissue apparently acting like a "third party" of cancer, wa reported to have reacted successfully.

Sir Squire Spriggs, distinguished editor of the Lancet, declared that Gye's paper may "we believe represent the solution of the central problem of cancer."

Spriggs declared "Dr. Gye's carefully controlled experimental evidence leads to certain fundamental conclusions which may be briefly summarized as follows:

"First, all malignant, new growths, contain an ultra-microscopic virus—which can be cultivated. This applies to carcinomate (cancer) and sarcomata (tumor) of fowl, mice, rats, dogs and men. The virus probably resides within the cells of the neoplasms."

Chicago, July 14.—The reported discovery of the British medical research council of an organism causing cancer "is of interest but will require confirmation on a large scale before being accepted" the editor of the official journal of the American Medical Association told the United Press today.

"During the past 10 or 15 years experiments have claimed to have discovered any number of organisms causing cancer, but these lacked confirmation and were not accepted professionally" he said. "This latest reported discovery will demand the same tests."

To establish the discovery as authoritative several tests must be successful, including the following:

"The experiments must show they have found the organism in a large number of cases. They must be able to produce cancer by applying the germ to animals."

Water Cut Off to Repair a Hydrant

The city water was turned off for three-quarters of an hour this afternoon, and was turned on about 3 o'clock.

The reason for shutting off the city water supply over the entire city was to enable the water department force to repair a hydrant at Seventh and Mulberry streets. As this plug is adjacent to the water tower it was necessary to cut off the supply over the city.

Mayor W. O. Garrett said that the pumps were working all right, the water plant is o. k., and there is nothing the trouble with the water tower. The water was turned off because a hydrant had to be repaired.

David Max Talks to College Y. M. C. A.

Two features of the College Y. M. C. A. program this morning were a group of two readings by Miss Lois Lawson, who read "Courtin'" by James Russell Lowell, and "The Professor," while the other feature was a short talk on "Faith" by David Max.

The speaker chose the subject of "Faith" he said, "because people seem to be losing faith as well as nations." He thought that frauds, like the Teapot Dome Scandal, make people lose faith in our government. The theme of his talk was that the world is getting better and that the large account of crimes was not from a larger number of such crimes but from a more complete report of them as people seemed to demand that type of news.

Mr. Max also spoke of faith toward fellow men. "We expect everybody to be like Jesus Christ. But we will have to remember that John Smith is only human and liable to make mistakes."
